Time: 10:00 AM onwards

Venue: Pragyan Hall, DTU

A workshop on “How to Write a Winning Proposal” was successfully conducted on 04 June 2026 at Pragyan Hall, Delhi Technological University. The workshop was organized by the Human Resource Development Centre (HRDC) in association with the Office of Research and Development with the objective of strengthening the proposal writing and grant acquisition capabilities of faculty members, researchers, and scholars. The programme provided practical insights into preparing competitive research proposals, securing funding, and developing impactful research projects through academic and industry collaborations. The event witnessed enthusiastic participation from faculty members and researchers, making it an informative and enriching learning experience for all attendees.

Key Highlights:

Inaugural Session:

The workshop began with the rendition of the National Anthem to pay homage to the nation. The workshop commenced with registration of participants followed by the National Song and National Anthem. Lamp Lighting and Saraswati Vandana marked the formal inauguration of the programme. Prof. Rinku Sharma, Dean (PG), welcomed the participants and introduced the objectives of the workshop. Prof. Prateek Sharma, Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, DTU, addressed the participants and emphasized the importance of research excellence, innovation, and securing competitive grants.

The inaugural session concluded with a Vote of Thanks delivered by Dr. Anurag Goel, Coordinator (HRDC, R&D), followed by a group photograph.

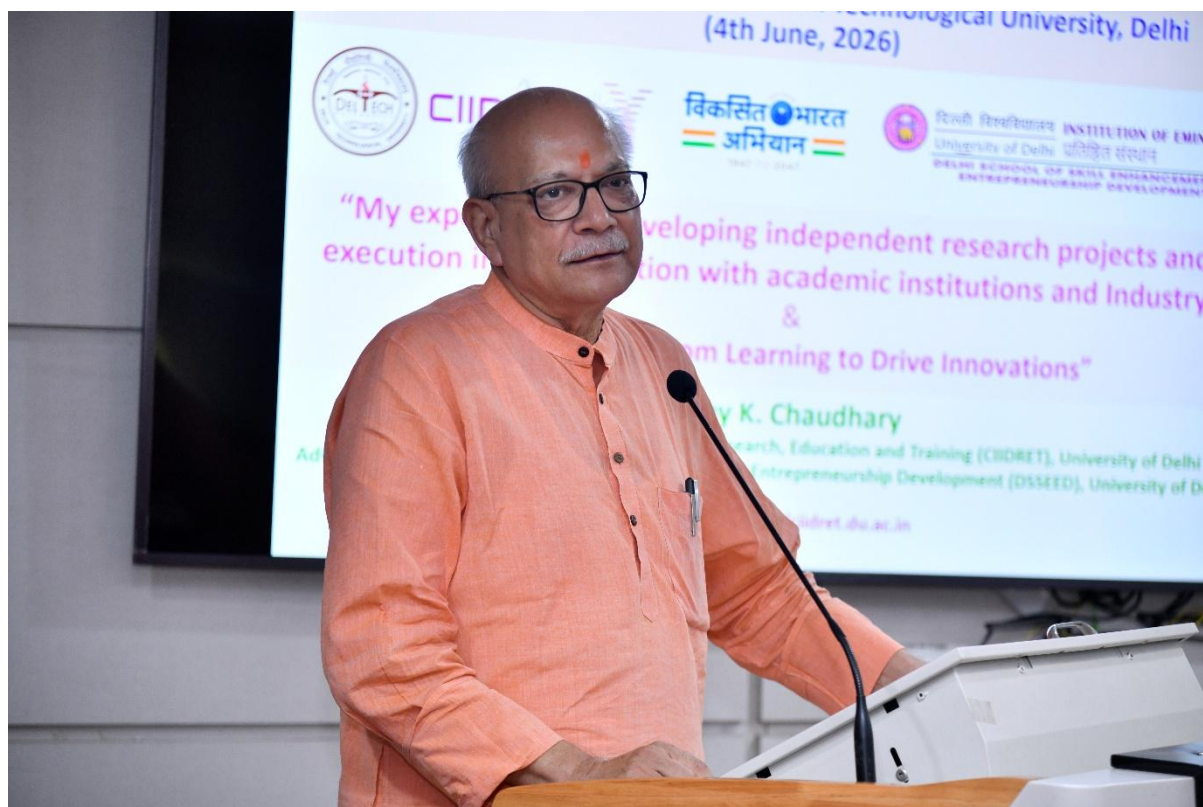

Session by Distinguished Speakers

Prof. Amita Gupta, University of Delhi: Prof. Gupta delivered an insightful session on 'Grant Writing'. She explained the key components of successful research proposals, including identification of research gaps, framing of objectives, methodology design, budgeting, expected outcomes, and alignment with funding agency requirements. She also shared practical strategies for improving proposal quality and acceptance rates.

Prof. Vijay K. Chaudhary, University of Delhi: Prof. Chaudhary shared his experiences in developing independent research projects and executing them in collaboration with academic institutions and industry partners. He highlighted the importance of interdisciplinary research, industry-academia partnerships, innovation-driven learning, and effective project management.

Acknowledgments

The organizers expressed sincere gratitude to Hon’ble Vice-Chancellor Prof. Prateek Sharma for his continuous guidance and support. Appreciation was also extended to Prof. Rinku Sharma, Prof. Amita Gupta, Prof. Vijay K. Chaudhary, and Dr. Hem Chandra Kandpal for sharing their valuable insights and experiences. The Human Resource Development Centre and the Office of Research and Development were acknowledged for successfully organizing the workshop.

Conclusion

The workshop proved to be highly informative and beneficial for faculty members, researchers, and scholars. It enhanced participants’ understanding of proposal development, grant writing, research collaborations, and project implementation. Such initiatives play a vital role in promoting a strong research culture and increasing the quality and impact of research activities at the University.

Outcomes of the Workshop

- Enhanced understanding of proposal writing and grant acquisition.
- Improved awareness of national and international funding opportunities.
- Better understanding of industry-academia collaboration.
- Increased confidence in preparing competitive research proposals.
- Strengthened research and innovation ecosystem within the University.

Future Scope

- HRDC and R&D may organize advanced proposal-writing workshops and hands-on proposal review sessions.
- Similar programmes may be conducted periodically to strengthen research capabilities and increase externally funded projects
